

EXCELLENT MANAGEMENT AT KALANIANA'OLE OPENING

Large Crowd Assembles to Watch the Japs
Beat the Twilights and the Aalas
Bury the Dragons.

Standing of the Kalaniana'ole Baseball League:

	P.	W.	Pct.
Aalas	1	1	1.000
J. A. C.	1	1	1.000
Twilights	1	0	.000
C. A. C.	1	0	.000

The opening of the Kalaniana'ole league came off in a blaze of glory yesterday afternoon. Flags waved, the band played, the swatters swatted, and the runners ran, and everybody was supremely happy, especially A. K. Vierra.

The opening ceremony consisted first of all in the six officials of the league lining up and having their photograph taken by Eddie Fernandez' camera, which he called on somebody else to snap, as he had to be in the picture himself.

Then the band played a short selection entitled, "It's Never Too Late to Bingle," and the officials turned out on the field for the big swat that officially opened the league series. Here is how they placed themselves: Enos Vincent at the bat, Mayor-elect J. J. Fern in the box, Mariposa donned the mask, E. S. Kong took first, Will Prestidge was at second, A. K. Vierra smiled on third, and W. Tin Chong made a tall bluff about being a shortstop.

The Mayor that is to be screwed himself into the recognized contortions that always go with pitching and then let go, but he didn't put enough steam behind it, so Umpire Eddie Fernandez called for another one, and this time it was a fair strike, but was caught by Mr. Vincent on his bat, and the ball went scoting by Tin Chong, who said that it was a bingle, but everybody else knows that it was a glaring error on his part.

Crowd Kept Well Back.

Then the bigwigs of the league took up their places in the bandstand and the players in the first game of the series trooped out onto the field. From the very first it was apparent that A. K. Vierra had been busy. Aala Park presented a different spectacle from the usual one of Sunday afternoon. In spite of the crowd being very much larger than usual, it was kept well back and there were no stragglers on the field. Also there were no players' benches to obstruct the view of the spectators. These had been placed at the foot of the bandstand, where they were every bit as convenient for the players and much more so for the spectators.

Then the score-board was put where everybody could see it and it was not covered by a drifting fog of human heads as has generally been the case. The bell had a real rope on it and it rang when the rope was pulled, a new and very surprising innovation to the crowd, which cheered lustily when the unaccustomed sound of its clear tones fell on their ears after the first runs had been made.

Six Policemen There.

Six husky policemen were on duty and they were doing their work. The crowd was kept back right on the line, and the usual buttinski who tried to walk onto the field was promptly set back where he belonged.

Altogether, the management of the opening day was excellent in every particular, and one can see that Vierra and his coworkers are determined to maintain the reputation of the Kalaniana'ole league as the best-managed league in town.

All the trimmings that had been promised for the press were there. The plush-lined Morris chair was wanting, it is true, but the recorder of events managed to take a very comfortable snooze through most of the game by putting his feet on the railing of the bandstand and leaning back against the massive and hospitable bosom of Captain Berger, who obligingly stood there for the purpose.

The First Game.

The first game was between the Japs and the Twilights. The Sunset kids ducked down over the horizon a trifle too soon and the victorious Japs were doing the Banzai cakewalk after the ninth inning.

The Banzais went to the bat first, but could do nothing with the coat of many colors number one, who was in excellent trim at the start. Then the gloamers came up and began to make things hum by knocking out three tallies. Here it should be explained that there are three Josepchs in the Twilight team. None of them ever saw Mr. or Mrs. Potiphar, so far as can be determined, and to distinguish them they shall be Joseph, Josephine and Josephat.

Joseph died at first and was followed to the cemetery by Deponte. Then Honan walked and stole two more, so that he was in a dangerous position at third, and finally scored on a passed ball. Two men down and none on bases didn't look much like another score, but that was where the way things looked got fooled.

Winter was safe on right-field's throw, and went to second on the same error. Then Pimental came up and handed a delicious swat way down towards Beretania avenue and reached third on it, while Winter ran in. Then Josephine binged and Pimental scored. That made three runs altogether, but it was all that they could do, and the first inning ended with the gloaming kids way in the lead.

But they did not keep that lead very long. The Japs nearly caught up in the second by scoring two on Junichi and Masa and quite caught up in the third when they started a terrible runfest and circled the diamond no less than six times, making eight altogether.

Twilights Tie Score.

The Twilights could not score in the third, nor could the Banzais do anything in the fourth, but in the second half of that inning the gloaming boys tied the score by piling up five. Ornelas, Fuller, Josephat, Joseph and Deponte were the scorers, and they got in principally on errors, although there was some grand hitting to help the work along, including a two-bagger by Deponte.

Neither side scored in the fifth. In the sixth the Banzais made one by Miyamoto, and they were never headed. Again in the seventh the Japs made three, Junichi, Tetsuo and Sakino being the men to reach the plate. This made the Japs well ahead with a score of 12 to 8.

It looked as though the sunsets might catch up in the second half of the seventh, for they scored two, Pimental and Webster junior, who had taken Josephine's place, being the swatters to perform the feat. This made the score 12 to 10, and there was nothing doing for the rest of the game, the score standing that way at the finish.

The playing was, of course, not perfect by any means. One can not expect that at the beginning of a league series. Individual play was good enough, but there was little team work and the players have not yet found out the other's idiosyncracies. (This word is stolen from A. K. Vierra, and is supposed to mean something very appropriate.)

The Second Game.

In the second game the Aalas put it all over the C. A. Cs. by 12 to 7. They were so sure of victory, in fact, that when the ninth inning arrived they gave up their half and allowed the dragonets to go right ahead and play six men out instead of only three.

The Aalas started out with a fine burst of speed and made four in the first. Bailey walked and stole second and came home on a wild throw by Mon Yin. Zerbe binged and Walker did the same, sending Zerbe to second. Then Luning sent the ball diving in the river, both Zerbe and Walker romping home, and then Luning came in on a passed ball.

The Chinese players scored one in the first off Mon Yin, who was the first man at bat. Then the Aalas came back with three in the second, two in the third, one in the fourth and none in the fifth, so they were working on a down-grade system. The Aalas made only one more score, and that was in the seventh, when Leslie and Dreier were both hit by the ball and both romped on Bailey's two-bagger to Beretania avenue.

The dragon kids made a hard fight for it, but the best they could do was two in the third, one in the fourth, one in the sixth and two in the seventh.

It was a fast game and the Aalas showed really much better fielding than any of the other three teams that played. They were also superior in hitting and they size up like very possible winners if they keep up the same form they showed yesterday.

Frank Miller of Company H, Fort Shafter again issues a challenge to any 160-pound man on the islands. This time he names a date which is the evening of Thanksgiving Day and states that he can be found any time at the post.

The famous Castaway Rugby team of Los Angeles that wiped the earth with everything on the Coast after they got started last season, is going downhill very badly. They were beaten by a high school team recently away from home and only twelve of their players turned out. Rather different from last season when there were always more than twenty players anxious to buy tickets for a match away, on the chance of being played in the game.

JOURNALISTS AT ALIOLANI

Young Writers Tell of Doings
of Sport at Kaimuki College.

The following notes collected and written by P. Kalua and F. Stillman of Aliolani college are well worth reading. They show the live spirit of sport that is rife among the kids that study out Kaimuki way and do justice to the school paper the Aliolani Annals of which the two boys mentioned are editors.

The mention of Rugby football is very encouraging. It would be impossible for the writer to get out every afternoon and coach the school but, if they would mention a day when it would be convenient between eleven and twelve o'clock in the morning, he would be only too glad to give them a blackboard talk on the subject of the game and explain how it is played.

Rugby Football.

Aliolani boys are always ready to take up a new game. We do plenty of work in school, but believe in plenty of games out of school. There has been much talk about Rugby football. The Aliolani boys have taken up the soccer game and like it very much, and if the British have still a better game, Aliolani would like to learn it.

If any old Rugby player will come out to teach us the game once or twice a week, we can get our principal to let the boys out of school, at any time to suit the coach. We hope that somebody who has played the game will help us out, as we are ready to put our best efforts into the matter. We would like to be one of the first teams started here.

Arbor Day.

As we have been so busy at Aliolani this week, the celebration of Arbor Day is postponed until a day next week.

We hope to arrange to get some flower trees, so that every lad of the school can plant one, as a remembrance of his past days here. We hope also to arrange for some of our old boys to come back and plant a tree so that everybody who has been to Aliolani may be remembered by a historic tree. This will form a link with the old school when we have left and gone out into the world of business.

New Caps.

Aliolani college has adopted, in place of uniforms, some very suitable school caps, with the initials "A. C." upon them. Most of the boarders have already ordered their caps and in a few days they will be seen around. The caps are of gray cloth. Ordinary school boys have a black monogram on a red background. Head boys may wear red monograms on a gold ground. Prefects wear the same and in addition a red fringe on top.

Football Shirts.

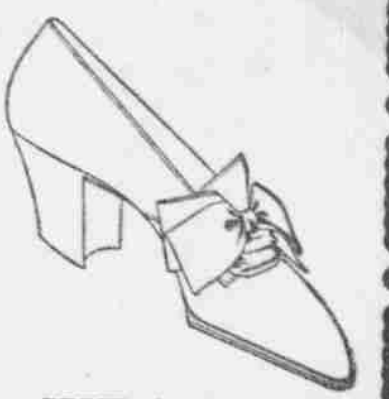

A meeting was held last Friday morning, to decide upon a suitable uniform for the football eleven. It was agreed to distinguish the Seniors' uniforms from the Juniors by adopting different costumes. The Seniors' uniforms are to be red shirts with white trousers, while the Juniors are to have a white shirt and white trousers with a red sash around the waist.

Hand's Third Lecture.

Dr. Hand again gave a lecture to the Aliolani students on "First Aid." He first reviewed his former lecture, and then commenced his new subject, Antidotes to Poison. He chiefly described the three common poisons, carbolic acid, bichloride of mercury, and blue vitriol (verdigris). Carbolic acid is a very useful house remedy, but the doctor strongly said, that carbolic acid has no right in a family house. People often use carbolic solution for washing cuts, but you can get something as good or better than carbolic acid for every purpose and which is not so dangerous to use. We wish Dr. Hand could give his lectures before larger audiences as they are very important. About fifty of the senior Aliolani boys are taking this course.

VIERRA, HE CAN WRITE LETTERS

The Kalaniana'ole Baseball League has elected W. Tin Chong, the former scorer of the Riverside Baseball League, to succeed Mariposa, who is going away tomorrow to Kauai. There was a special meeting of the league last Friday night, in which nearly all the members of the league were present. Besides the election of an official scorer, preparations for the opening day were also discussed.

Secretary A. K. Vierra was authorized to notify Chong of his election, and has forwarded the following letter to him. As is seen by the wording of Vierra's letter, he is certainly there with the real stuff:

Honolulu, T. H., November 13, 1908.

Mr. W. Tin Chong, City.

Dear Sir: After the conversation you and I had the other day relative to your acceptance of the position of scorer, upon the departure of the incumbent, and your kindness in accepting the same, permit me to respectfully notify you that your name was most favorably considered and that I take pleasure to inform you that President Enos Vincent's appointment of you to fill the vacancy has been unanimously approved by the league.

I assure you that it will be a pleasure again like old times to see you again back with us. I shall not use the terms of the famous "Boy Orator," as he is fond of calling himself: "I have sacrificed you on the altar of our league or stood upon the threshold of an ignominious ending," ad lib. You know we want a sport to help us along, and I explained that you are the "Real Dope," as a certain jingler calls it.

So be there with the goods on the 22nd inst., at 1:30 p. m. sharp, when the first game begins. Yours very truly,
A. K. VIERRA,
Secretary, Kalaniana'ole League.

Sport Notes

It was not goodbye for the Farewell kids yesterday by any means. In fact they handed the au revoir to the other side and defeated the Oahu A. C. by 6 to 5 in a very close and exciting game. Manuel Perry handed out a three-bagger for the winners that brought in three men and was properly applauded.

The Ewa Englishmen and Portuguese played a game at Ewa yesterday afternoon and the double Es won out by the score of 5 to 3. Gedge of the winning team was the star of the day. Out of four times at bat he made two home runs, a triple and a double. Can you beat it? Not a chance. Clark, who twirled for the winners, held the other good team down to three scattered hits, which was also going some.

The Giants will play the Eagles next Sunday at Atkinson park at 1:30 p. m. The Ocean Views and Pawns will follow, presumably about 1 o'clock.

FISTIC QUARTET ARRIVES SAFELY

SAN FRANCISCO, November 4.—San Francisco's quartet of future great fighters, who invaded the Hawaiian Islands some three months ago in search of glory, returned on the liner Alameda yesterday morning. The bunch includes Charley Reilly, Charley Webber, Joe Leahy and Frankie Smith. All of them made quite a hit in Honolulu and managed to pick up a few pieces of loose jingle. Little Reilly, a lightweight, was the big star of the gang. He knocked out Charley Webber, a former San Francisco boy, in four rounds, received a 15-round decision over Leahy and drew with McFadden at the same distance. He was offered several more matches in the Island city, but became homesick and returned with his pals.

Reilly's manager, Jack Kelly, has an offer to match his boy against Manrice Savers in a 10-round go before Tom McCarey's Los Angeles club, and it is likely that he will take it up. Reilly, who never went more than four rounds till he left here, is a very clever little chap and has yet to taste of the bitter dregs of defeat.

GIANTS REPEAT FAMOUS STUNT

The Giants repeated their famous stunt of defeating the Bulletins yesterday afternoon at Atkinson park and came very near to holding their opponents down to nothing. It is said that they would have done this but that Manager Gumbs left word that, during his absence, the kids were not to borrow any Waialua whitewash from the Advertiser office.

Young Gomes pitched for the Giants and kept the Bulletins guessing all the time. He was ably coached by Daniel who wore the mask and the two put up a very pretty combination. The titans started out well by scoring in the first inning, repeated the dose in the third and fourth and gave out two pills in the eighth. The Bulletins scored their one and only in the seventh, the which was made on an error at third base.

The official score was:

'TISERS WIN BY DEFAULT

Too bad about those Paradise paladins. They didn't show up for the game with the 'Tisers yesterday. Only their captain, Joe Bisho, who was there in good time and very much upset at the defection of his team.

All the 'Tisers were there, of course, and they waited anxiously after ear, but no more players from the happy place showed up and they claimed the game by default and proceeded to have a very fast and enjoyable pickup game.

Now that the Paradise team has defaulted to the 'Tisers, the latter tie with the Mercantiles, for they have both played seven games and lost only one. This game will be played off next Sunday morning and will sure be a hummer, as the Mercantiles have an aggregation of swatters second only to the peerless 'Tisers and they will surely turn up for the game.

Many inquiries come to this office from players in the league as to where the cup is. Where is that cup? There was one supposed to be donated and some time ago it was said that it was being made in San Francisco. The retired secretary of the league would be doing a favor if he would communicate with this office and explain about the cup, so that interested players may be given some satisfaction.
